PREFACE.

It is the purpose of this volume like its predecessors in the series, to present an official list of the members of the New York County Medical Association.

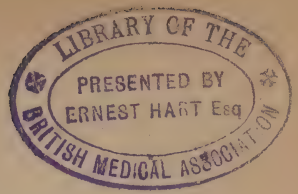

It covers the period of one year and includes the membership up to June 30th, 1895. Like its predecessors it contains also what may be called a manual of information in which is a list of other practitioners of rational medicine. These lists combined may properly be designated a Register of regular physicians resident in the City and County of New York.

To provide a list on the basis of mere legality would be but to gratify an ill-defined curiosity. But on the basis of competency it is a commendation, of those whose college education "has covered the whole ground of the science and art of medicine" and whose "practice is founded on the accumulated experience of the profession." It is also a warning against the followers of exclusive and sectarian systems represented by Eclectics, Homœopaths, Faith Curists, Christian Scientists, Clairvoyants, Botanists and Advertisers of secret nostrums, of whom the ranks of irregulars are formed. These need not be included in the list of the medical profession at all.

This commendation and this warning seem to be in accordance with the performance of duty to the profession and the public, in the effort to maintain the standard of the one and serve the other in the prevention of disease and preservation of health. There are in the city of New York about 3,000 Regular Physicians whose names are recorded in this volume. There are also about 1,100 persons, some registered according to law and some it is supposed without legal registration practicing in the city under various assumed names referred to in this preface. These may be generally referred to as Irregulars. By such as these the progress of scientific medicine is retarded and in many cases great injury is done to health, and life often imperilled by the prevalence of quackery.

The portion of this volume described as a manual has been considerably increased since the issue of last number. It is hoped its acceptability and usefulness will be in proportion thereto.

WILLIAM DETMOLD, M. D.

The portrait which appears at the threshold of this volume, may serve to revive the memory of those who knew the original, while this brief memoir may in another form give to those who had no personal acquaintance some appreciation of him. It is the object of both to perpetuate the memory of one who early contributed to the present successful career of the association.

Dr. Detmold was born in Hanover while it was a Kingdom of Northern Germany, on December 27th, 1808. He graduated at Gottingen in 1830 and served as an Army Surgeon until he came to the United States in 1837. In that year he settled in New York and was the first to introduce Orthopædic Surgery into this country. He established a clinic in that department in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1841. In 1862 he was chosen Professor of Military Surgery and afterwards of Clinical and Military Surgery in the same college. He was prominent in the organization of the Medical Corps of the United States Army in the earlier part of the war of the rebellion. He maintained a Surgical practice for more than half a century and held the following offices, viz.: Vice-president of the New York Academy of Medicine. Consulting Surgeon to the Presbyterian Hospital and one of the founders and President of the Society for the relief of the widows and orphans of medical men. When the profession in the State of New York became divided on the question of adherence to the National Association he promptly took his position with those who continued membership therein and was elected the first President of the New York County Medical Association in 1884. He served one year but continued until his death a lively interest in all its concerns.

After pursuing his practice as health and strength permitted he died at the age of 86 years, on the 26th day of December, 1894. He was an old time gentleman whose presence was always welcome at our meetings and whose wise counsels were listened to with attention and respect.

NEW YORK COUNTY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

ORIGIN, HISTORY AND OBJECTS.

The local Society—not extending its membership beyond the County of New York. Founded in 1884 on precisely the same grounds as the State Association with which it is in affiliation and in which it is represented by delegation.

The Objects are to bring together in association for mutual and professional benefit, members of the profession of medicine in the City of New York having a community of sentiment relating to the honor, interest and usefulness of the profession, the maintenance of its character, the cultivation of the science of medicine, and the promotion of public health.

This association desires to enroll as members those only who adhere to the American Medical Association, in which, as well as in the State Association, it is represented by delegates appointed. Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month, except July, August and September. A small portion of the time of each meeting is devoted to executive business, and the rest is occupied in scientific work and accompanying discussion, with presentations of pathological specimens.

THE NEW YORK STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

When, in 1847, the American Medical Association was formed, a Code of Ethics was adopted, which was in accordance with well-established ethical principles in other countries, and the usages of worthy members of the profession in our own.

As recognized by State and local Medical Societies, it was considered as binding upon them all. It drew the line between legitimate medicine and its opposite, and remained in force until 1884. In that year the New York State Medical Society, by substituting a local code of ethics, withdrew from the National organization. The State Association was then formed, to maintain the relation with the National Association as before, and secure to the members of the profession in the State of New York that representation of which they had been deprived by the action of the State Society.

The membership is now eight hundred, its meetings are held annually. Its volume of transactions shows the accomplishment of much scientific work.

Dr. Austin Flint, of New York Co., is the President.

Dr. E. D. Ferguson, of Troy, Rensselaer Co., is the Secretary.

The next meeting will be held in Mott Memorial Hall, New York City, on October 15th, 1895.

THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

At a Convention held in the City of New York, in 1846, it was declared expedient "for the medical profession of the United States to institute a National Medical Association." In the following year, May 14th, 1847, in the City of Philadelphia, the organization was completed under the title, "The American Medical Association."

The "Plan of organization" declares that, "Inasmuch as an institution so conducted as to give frequent, united and emphatic expression to the views and aims of the medical profession in this country, must at all times have a beneficial influence, and supply more efficient means than have hitherto been available here for cultivating and advancing medical knowledge; for elevating the standard of medical education; for promoting the usefulness, honor and interests of the medical profession; for enlightening and directing public opinion in regard to the duties, responsibilities and requirements of medical men; for exciting and encouraging emulation and concert of action in the profession, and for facilitating and fostering friendly intercourse between those who are engaged in it; therefore, See Constitution.

The membership is composed of Delegates from the State Medical Associations in affiliation, and from such county or local societies as are entitled to send Delegates to the State Associations.

The Medical Department of the United States Army and Navy are each entitled to four delegates appointed by the chiefs of their respective bureaus. Such changes in the details of organization have been made from year to year as the requirements of the times demanded. The meetings are annual and have been held in all parts of the country, viz.: in twenty States from Massachusetts to Louisiana, and from New York to California. Scientific work is done in the several sections, and business at the general meetings. Its excellent Code of Ethics covers the entire membership and no State Association is admitted unless by adopting that Code. It now numbers 8,000 members and as a body is the Representative of the Medical Profession in the United States.

Of this Association Dr. R. Beverly Cole, of California, is the President.

The next meeting will be held in the City of Atlanta, Georgia, on the 5th day of May, 1896.

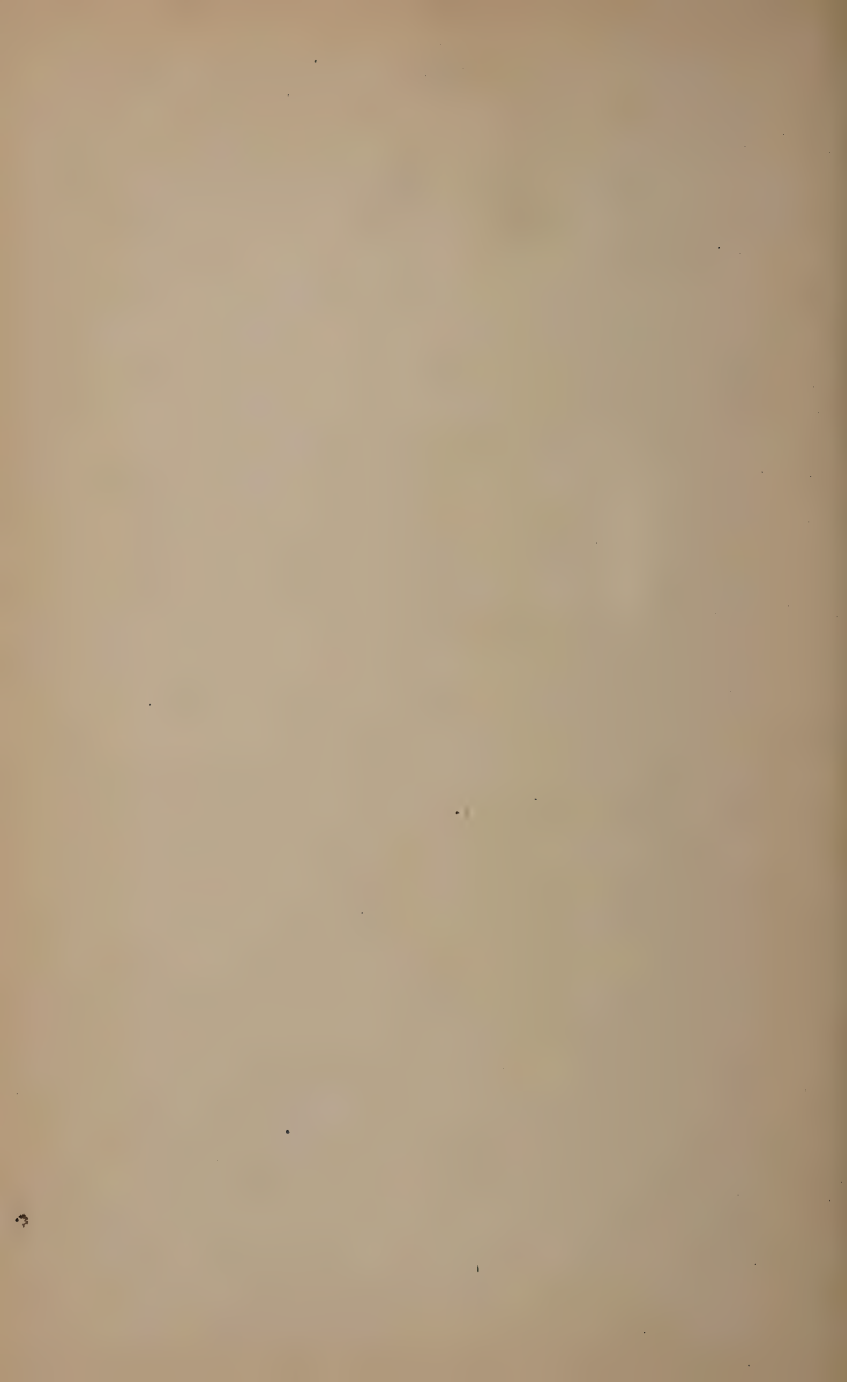

THE INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL CONGRESS.

The first International Medical Congress assembled in the City of Paris, France. Among the French there had been successful meetings held at Lyons, Rouen and Bordeaux, and the first proposition for an International Congress was made at the Bordeaux Meeting, in 1865, to be held in 1867. M. Boullard, President of the Congress, declared it to be a palpable demonstration of the progress made, and of the development of medical confraternity. He predicted that this would be the forerunner of many more International Medical Congresses, and that the Governments, the Press and individuals would combine to make them successful. And so it has been. Since that period similar meetings have taken place in Florence, 1869; in Vienna, 1873; in Brussels, 1875, and, by adjournment, in Philadelphia, 1876; in Genoa, 1877; in Amsterdam, 1879; in London, 1881; in Copenhagen, 1884; in Washington, 1887; in Berlin, 1890, and in Rome in 1894.

Great questions in sanitary legislation, medical education and the prevention of disease can only be determined and made effective by such co-operation. The interest expressed by the various Governments of the dominions in which the Congress met, and the provision made by the members in attendance for a continuance of such Conferences, are sufficient evidences of the value put upon them by the medical profession of the world. Improvements in perfecting organization in order that they may not be too democratic, but be composed of Delegates representing National Associations, or, at least, some association of medical men, would make them more effective for good.

The next meeting (12th) will be held in Moscow, Russia, in August, 1896, with Dr. J. Th. Klein, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, as President, and Count P. A. Kapnist as Chairman of the local Committee on Organization.

ACTION

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ON THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION
CODE OF ETHICS AND BY-LAWS.

BALTIMORE, May 8th, 1895.

At the meeting in San Francisco, 1894, the majority and minority reports were presented by the Committee on Revision, having been postponed from previous meeting. Final action was then to be taken and they were made the subjects of special consideration. It should be borne in mind that the majority report presented by Dr. Holton favored certain proposed amendments, while the minority report presented by Dr. Didama was unfavorable to their adoption. The minority report by a large majority was adopted. The President announced that by this vote the minority report became THE report of the Committee. After much discussion a motion to adopt was passed also by a large majority but without securing a two-thirds vote. After this by another large majority ALL amendments to Constitution and Code were indefinitely postponed and thus settled for that meeting and justified the declaration as a

That the proposed changes pending consideration for two years had been acted on and rejected. That the attachment of the Profession for the Code had been demonstrated and that it now remains in full force as before the agitation was commenced. At the meeting in Baltimore, 1895, under the heading of Miscellaneous Business was found a series of seven amendments which had been considered at the San Francisco meeting, and were among those indefinitely postponed. The President ruled their consideration to be out of order because already acted on and rejected. A new amendment in regard to the patenting of surgical instruments was then presented, duly considered and with some others indefinitely postponed.

After this another amendment containing some of the same provisions as those which had been previously disposed of was offered and under the ruling of the President not re-introduced. In order to place the matter beyond doubt ALL amendments proposed were by resolution indefinitely postponed. The record shows that a habit had grown up of simply announcing amendments and giving them to the officers to be laid over until next meeting, the members of the Association not knowing what they contained. This evidently was productive of confusion, wasteful of time and complicated business. One prominent member, fearing that the rights of others would be restricted in offering amendments appealed from the decision of the chair. On appeal, the decision of the President was sustained and by him the following explanation was made: "That he endeavored to give the members every possible privilege and would do his best to protect them. If any amendments are to be introduced they should be clearly written out, plainly designating the sections which it was proposed to amend. They should be then read from the platform and laid over to be considered and voted on at the next meeting. He objected to resolutions or amendments being quietly introduced and then laid over as a trap for his successor. After the transaction of several items of general business the following amendments were offered in due form, viz., to Paragraph 8th of Article II. of the Constitution, "defining the qualifications and duties of active members. Also to Paragraph 6th of Article IV., line 6th, in relation to the duties of officers. Also that ordinance 18 be amended by substituting "the Permanent Secretary for the Committee of Arrangements." These were laid over for consideration at next meeting in Atlanta, and are now the only Amendments before the Association.

A complete record of the Baltimore meeting may be found in the Journal of the American Medical Association, for May 18th, 1895, pages 755 to 767.

It seems that annually amendments are offered, and the determined efforts for change on the part of a small minority are thus made conspicuous. So far as these affect the Ethics or the Representative character of the organization the mind of the majority is promptly and decidedly shown. Minor points affecting details of organization desirable for the progress of the Association cannot receive appropriate attention because coupled with those of more importance, and on the retention of which the large majority of the members are determinedly united. "Verbum sat Sapienti."

CASES—DESCRIPTIONS AND DEMONSTRATIONS.

In illustration of posture in anæsthetic accidents, Dr. Hare demonstrated on the cadaver from which the calvarium had been removed, the effects of position of the head and neck when making artificial respiration. Through the open vault of the skull the epiglottis could be seen, rising from its position and allowing the larynx to remain open when the neck was extended and the chin depressed, showing that the usual method of merely throwing the head back was a faulty one.

ALSO

A demonstration, of the O'Hara or Australian method of operating for the radical cure of inguinal hernia—this was accompanied with a description in detail and the use of diagrams. The speaker had used this method in sixteen cases. The value of this form of operation consisted in the completeness of the closure and the smallness of the resulting scar. In addition to the demonstration, two patients were presented on whom the operation had been performed, one of these was a male adult and the other a child of two years. They were both submitted to the inspection of the members present.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION AND THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

One year ago under the above title, an endeavor was made to set forth briefly the relations of practitioners with the Health Department of New York ; besides, other suggestions were submitted, having reference to improving our household and highway hygiene, by some radical reforms, in the collection and final disposal of our household-garbage, and other matters.

It is gratifying to note that these have not all been ignored by the heads of our departments ; that certain sundry abuses of the Health Department ; as forcing gratuitous service on many able and willing to pay for it, have been suppressed and a general order has been promulgated, to the effect, that greater caution must be observed on the part of Sanitary Inspectors, not to interfere between the family practitioner and his patients.

That our efforts have not been in vain, in the direction of instituting necessary reforms in the Street Cleaning Department, are demonstrated by the fact, that the present Street Cleaning Commissioner has made provisions for an early adoption of garbage separation by the householder, and has a crematory in process of construction, which will reduce to ashes one hundred and fifty tons of garbage per diem.

Early in August, his honor, the Mayor, presented resolutions before the Board of Apportionment, calling for an early and radical reform in the matter of collecting and destroying household garbage. These essentially embodied the plans unanimously recommended by the New York Academy of Medicine and the County Medical Association.

From the stand-point of general safety, the public interests and health, the construction of those "sky scrapers," those mammoth pyramids of ten, twelve to twenty-five and thirty-storied buildings should be condemned and a determined effort should be made in the next session of the Legislature with a view of prohibiting the erection of any building beyond such a height as will destroy the ventilation or light in the entire block on which it is constructed.

The present ambulance system calls for reform. A considerable proportion of cases now taken to the Hospitals might better be sent to their homes where they would be more likely to receive appropriate nourishment and general treatment under the immediate care of the family physician than certain of the Hospitals could possibly provide. Some cases there are who enter the hospital under protest, but when once comfortably located are content to remain when they find that they may do so without cost, notwithstanding they are able to pay for professional services. In these respects the present practice imposes large and unnecessary expense on the city, may be an interference with the work of the family physician and is an injustice to the worthy or really poor for whom alone charity attendance should be supplied. Sudden emergencies demand prompt attention without the application of ordinary rules, and consideration of fees or codes (see code) are not to be regarded. It is believed that an appeal to the city government will terminate any existing abuses and greatly improve the ambulance system.

Our water supply is more abundant and excellent; the general condition of our municipal economy is such as to permit the masses ample nutritious food and fairly healthy domiciles.

At the present time venereal diseases continue to be a menace to public health—and excess in the indulgence of alcoholics constitutes an unmanageable obstacle to the laws of health, towards the suppression or diminution of which, in the near future, preventative medicine should be energetically directed.

The law going into effect December 1st, 1895, dividing the Department of Charities and Corrections into two, meets with the general approval of the medical profession.

The Department of Charities will include all the eleemosynary institutions within the city limits, and on the islands, the medical management of which now, with the exception of the insane and contagious diseases hospitals, is under the charge of physicians who gratuitously give their services.

Many medical reforms are urgently needed in these institutions at the present time, which concerns the profession, the public and general health, to which it is hoped the County Medical Association will direct its attention at an early date.

The general health of the city during the past year has been unusually good. There have been no widespread epidemics of zymotic or contagious diseases.

The mortality from diphtheria has been sensibly diminished since the introduction of antitoxin, though whether this is attributable to a mild type of the disease or to classifying as diphtheria many of the commoner, trivial forms of pharyngitis of a bacterial character, is not by any means certain.

It is not pretended by the warmest advocates of serotherapy, that in the mixed infection—the malignant sore throat first designated “diphtheria” by Brettlemann—antitoxin exerts any specific power.

Sufficient time has not passed to warrant the assumption that this scourge of the public health can be reduced to the same plane as variola by inhibitive inoculation.

NOTES.

STATISTICAL.

At the Convention held in the city of New York in May, 1846, for the purpose of organizing the American Medical Association there were present one hundred delegates. The whole number appointed was one hundred and nineteen. Of those present at the meeting in Baltimore in 1848 there are only four now living, viz. :

Dr. Alfred Stillé, of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Hiram Corson, of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, of New York.

Dr. N. S. Davis, of Illinois.

The largest number of members of the American Medical Association is from the State of Pennsylvania, viz., about 500.

Of the eleven International Congresses held, the four largest were, the 7th in London, 3,182 members,

9th in Washington, 2,895 members,

10th in Berlin, 5,752 members, and the 11th in Rome, 7,612 members.

According to recent report there are about 11,500 Practitioners of Medicine in New York State.

IMPORTANT STATISTICAL CORRECTION.

In the report of the Permanent Secretary of the American Medical Association at the meeting in Baltimore in 1895, the statement is made of New York thus :

“New York (State Medical Association):

Kings County, 100.”

It should be :

“New York—A State Medical Association, 800 members ; Kings County, 100 ; New York County, 1,056.

The New York County Medical Association is the largest county association in the United States in affiliation with the American Medical Association.

NOTES in re ARMY.

THE TERM "REGULAR" DEFINED.

The Surgeon-General of the United States rendered a decision which coming from so high authority, ought to satisfy the most exacting for a definition of the word Regular.

"The term regular as used on paragraph 1544, Army Regulations, is used in its most comprehensive sense, as indicating a college well equipped, and prepared to cover the whole ground of the science and art of medicine in its teachings. and requires not less than a three years' course of study to secure its diploma."

Let not the term regular be confounded with the designation legal. The former refers to what is professional, the latter to mere legality. Under the present laws of this state a person may be a legal but not a regular physician.

Army regulations in regard to Civil Practice.

The U. S. Army Regulations of 1814, in which the duties of medical officers were for the first time distinctly specified, prohibited civil practice in these terms: "No surgeon of the army shall be engaged in private practice," but this regulation has never been enforced,only intended to prevent neglect of duty which might be occasioned by entering exhaustively into practice..... Medical officers had a right to give their services to whomsoever they pleased and they had always been permitted to do so. Indeed at small ports it was desirable that they should do so to extend their sphere of action and experience. The present ruling is that medical officers must not establish an office nor solicit practice, but if requested to attend in any case they are at full liberty to do so provided it can be done without interfering with their regular duties. It would be ungracious and indeed unjust to citizens to deprive them by War Department orders of any benefit they might derive from the care of a military surgeon.

At the opening of the New Army Medical School, among other advices given were that young officers were cautioned not to hold themselves aloof from their confreres in civil life, but to join the Medical Associations, be present at their meetings and make friends in the profession.

It is reported that a hospital has been established by the United States Government at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for the treatment of officers and soldiers of the Army. That it is in charge of Surgeon Alfred A. Woodhull, who, through the Adjutant-General's office, has issued a circular indicating in what diseases relief may be expected, and in what cases the treatment is contra indicated.

NOTES in re CODE AND ITS TEACHINGS.

In a recent address to students in Jefferson Medical College, by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell the following striking sentence appeared. "He who looks upon the profession commercially, and only this: is apt to fail of even the mere financial form of success because it is the peculiarity of our mode of earning a livelihood that it is not and cannot be regarded as a mere business."

Physicians have like ideas of duty and of conduct in all lands.

"From Japan to London you may claim medical aid for self or wife or child and find none willing to take a fee; there is something fine and gracious in this idea."

*The physician of the past, the present and the future
—A definition of his social position.—*

From an address delivered by Dr. Julius Kohl of Illinois at the meeting of the American Medical Association in Baltimore, May 7th, 1895, the following extracts are made:

In this age of progress, when we behold a constant race for new discoveries in medicine and surgery, when nearly every day brings new surprises, it may not be amiss to pause and take a glance at our profession from a different point of view.

Our calling is not a business alone. It is an exalted vocation. The unsullied social position of the physician should tower high above his other achievements.

THE PHYSICIAN OF THE PAST.

No doubt that at all times there was disease and suffering, and that attempts at healing were made. The Bible throws no light on the subject of regular practitioners of medicine and surgery among the Jews. Prior to Hippocrates, schools of medicine existed at Kos, Knidas, Rhodes, Kroton and Kyrene, and however primitive and imperfect they may have been, we must consider them as pioneers. With Hippocrates began a new era.

How much valuable medical history was destroyed at Alexandria by the fanatical Moslems will remain unknown to us for ever. Regular physicians and surgeons had to fight their way against many obstacles to bring about the emancipation of the profession. The last fifty years must be credited with giving to the world the exact sciences of medicine and surgery, and their emancipation has been complete. With gratitude we should look back to the giants in our Art who have preceded us. Let us admire their diligence in delivering to us their literature even without the assistance of the printing press. Let us give credit to those that preserved it for us during the Middle Ages, often mis-called the Dark Ages. We are prone to censure these pioneers of science, but it is questionable whether our most learned cotemporaries could have done more for medicine and surgery than the persecuted scholars of ancient days.

THE PHYSICIAN OF THE PRESENT.

But let us consider the obstacles surrounding the physician in our days. Quackery will never die. The Indian medicine man of the forests of undiscovered America, with his invocations and posturings, has but changed his name and garb and is with us now in the nineteenth century, stealing his way as a Christian science healer or sophist of some kind, into all classes of society ; into the hovel of the ignorant poor and the palace of the rich and apparently educated. The quack and his victim will live forever. Ignorance and dishonesty will always seek the false, the mysterious and the superstitious. It seems impossible to educate the masses into an understanding and appreciation of the unerring laws of nature. The physician of to-day and of the future will have the same never-ending contention with charlatanism and ignorance.

I come now to consider the position of the physician of the present. Medicine and surgery are recognized by the entire civilized world as independent sciences, and we, their disciples, being entrusted with their care and application, have assumed, as the physicians of the present day in this immense field, the greatest of obligations and responsibilities. We have at our command the whole earth and its surroundings, and have the right to press all into our service, but with these rights are manifold duties which I shall attempt to enumerate in part.

The duties of the physician to himself, his patients, and his fellow practitioners, are well laid down in the rules and regulations adopted by this Association many years ago, and they come as near perfection as any set of laws known to me. For the purpose of brevity I will not dwell on them, but will at once come to the consideration of the duties of the physician in regard to some of the great social questions of the day.

It may be asked, What has the physician to do with the great social questions? I answer, His relations to such questions place him on a footing equal to, if not above, that of the spiritual advisor. No one comes in daily contact oftener with his fellow-men than he. He is their firm friend and recognized superior in matters pertaining to a knowledge of nature and her laws, which he is in duty bound to promulgate every day. When the great Creator of the universe made laws, in silent obedience to which the stars and heavenly bodies move, laws which all nature obeys, he formulated a code of law, which even man, the prince of creation, must obey.

But I hear the question, Is not this the province of the church and State? I answer, yes. They have their part to perform, but whether or not they do their duty is a question about which there is grave doubt.

Looking at the State and the enforcement of its laws by the courts, it is apparent to every thinking man that it falls far short of performing its great duty. As to the church it seems to have lost its hold on mankind to a large extent. Self-styled evangelists travel through the land, seeking by preference the large cities. Their discourses are sensational, for their hearers love sensation. The churches are turned into club-houses; sweet songs, sweet music (of a nature mostly unsuited to the worship of the Creator), mouth preaching is all that remains, and only the dance is lacking to make the entertainment complete. The masses of to-day want entertainment. It does not matter what is given them. The honest pastor who educates the youth of the land in morality, in order to make good men and women, is at a discount.

Let the doctor, the emancipated physician of the nineteenth century, with a grateful heart do his duty.

I say the physician must take a firm stand on all social questions. When he is girded with the armor of the never-erring laws of nature, he is ready to fearlessly take up the gauntlet against any antagonist. Let me begin with the laws of the propagation of the race. It is not the purpose of this paper to give a dissertation on them; they are prescribed by God, the church and the State. That which comes within the province of the physician is of a twofold character. On the one hand, he is called on to remove physical obstructions which stand in their way, but oftener, in our days, he is called upon to interfere with the laws of nature. The first one belongs to one of the proudest duties of his profession; the other is the offspring of Satan and alike detestable and abhorrent.

The duty of the physician upon being consulted by the moral leper who would prostitute the noble science of medicine and surgery to the foul purposes of such wretches is plain. He should stamp upon such intention and prevent by all means in his power the consummation of the greatest crime against nature. Procreation impregnates all nature and all natural laws, and a society which tolerates the violation of these natural laws deserves the fate of a Sodom and Gomorrah.

About three years ago, a number of so-called learned people held a convention in the city of Detroit, Mich., in which the subject of interference and prevention was discussed by some male and female physicians there assembled, and the disgraceful spectacle was presented of a large advocacy of these unnatural and abhorrent methods.

Let no reputable physician soil his hands and disgrace his profession for filthy lucre. These foul practices once taking a firm hold on society destroy mankind, womanhood, the family and the State. The history of the world is filled with proofs of these dire results. A once powerful, prominent nation of Europe where the system began about one hundred years ago, goes begging to-day for a ruler, and the end of it has not yet come. I deem it to be the highest duty of the true physician to destroy all literature aiding the practice whether called by their true names or under the delusive title of tokology, etc. Such literature is properly called "Satan in Society."

But enough; let us proceed to a further branch of our inquiry. What is the duty of the true physician regarding the question of the emancipation of woman?

Man has his place in the world, so has woman, and nature has drawn the line. Man should be the protector of woman. In all the ancient nations, which can be held up as an example, the Jewish nation seems to have taken the proper stand. There the woman was conceded the place belonging to her. . . Christianity has done the same thing somewhat improved, but step outside the boundaries of Christendom and the woman is found to be a slave. Physicians should unite against the modern false emancipation of woman, for they know it is a perversion of nature. Protect the woman, give her a chance to sustain herself honorably when those to whom she has a right to look for sustenance neglect to do it, but do not delude her and assist her in the belief that she is man's physical equal. Put her on the same footing with man, with full-fledged rights and privileges, let her contest on a physical plane with man, to sustain herself, what will become of her? The physician must know the ills and evils that will beset her. There have been and there still are, very many great women who will forever shine in history, empresses, queens and others in all stations of life, among them the Sisters of Charity, the physician's best friend and helper. There were the brave women of Saragossa, and our own great American women of the wars of independence and of our late war for the Union. I doubt if all these great and good women would join in the cry for woman's emancipation, in the modern sense. The physician should be the daily teacher to refute the falsehood for the sake of woman. The physician can never approve of the perversion of the laws of nature, and it is believed that such laws stand forever as a barrier to the attainment by woman of that equality so much desired by the agitation of the present generation.

And now the liquor question. Wines and liquors are the gifts and products of nature, then why make war on them, instead of upon their abuse? The physician needs them. He knows the genuine from the adulterated, by virtue of his knowledge of chemistry and pharmacy. Prohibit a legal traffic in wines and liquors, and the physician, his patient and the public in general are at the mercy of the smuggler. The physician should advocate laws for inspection of food and drink. He should see to it that these absolute necessities of mankind are pure. The physician should be found on the side of sound reason, performing his duties regardless of the cries of fanatics or the claims of quacks.

These are some of the more important duties of the physician, considered with reference to his social position. Time forbids a discussion of the numerous minor duties.

His duties are of such a nature that they do not admit of public discussion, except with and by physicians.

The nature of his duties, reaching as they do into the privacy of the home, preclude particular open discussion, and permit but of a generalization when presented for public inspection.

The object of touching on these social questions is to define the position of a physician toward them, as he is above all others the intimate friend as well as helper of the family, the foundation of all human government. Intimately connected as he is with the inner life of his patients, he should above all things strive to be in the right, the just and natural side of all matters which come within his sphere.

The physician of the nineteenth century must not allow future generations to think of him as narrow and contracted, but history should record him as a man of broad and upright views, a scholar, a sage, whose best thoughts and aspirations were for the advancement of the noble science he had espoused. His care for his patients, his thoughtfulness and watchfulness for them requires his most earnest examination of all their surroundings and the principles of hygiene and sanitation should receive his closest attention ; he must make war on the sins committed against them daily ; privately, when he comes in contact with them in the case of his patients ; and publicly when his duty as a citizen, having in view the welfare of his fellow-man requires it.

Mankind needs much instruction and, considering our boasted learning, it is astonishing how little the principles of hygiene are understood by the masses ; how little attention is paid to pure air, pure water, pure food, clean houses and proper ventilation, as medical assistants. What a field for the physician, and in a direct line with his work socially ! It is wonderful what can be accomplished in this direction by well-directed action on the part of the physician ; adapting himself by reason of his close relations with his patients, to their needs and wants, he becomes at once the purifier of their minds, their bodies and their houses, a position socially to be envied by all men.

THE PHYSICIAN OF THE FUTURE.

The first duty of the physician is to sustain himself in the position heretofore described, and to accomplish this he must be equipped with a thorough education. The standard of education must be raised.

Before we can speak of a medical education we must look to the education of the student, and that question solved I have no fears for the professional education. When this country was new and there was a demand for physicians, it was quite natural that this demand should be supplied. I will utter no word of censure against the medical schools of the past. The profession of medicine and surgery in our country in the past can boast of a great number of pioneer giants. I would name some of them out of respect, but since they are known to the members of the Association I will, for the sake of brevity, deny myself that pleasure. We are now, however, on the threshold of another and different period, and this Association must place itself on record as indicating the path which is to be followed in the future. This ball, the earth on which we dwell, is growing smaller, figuratively speaking, day by day. We are surrounded by a world of intelligent neighbors. The oceans that separate us from other continents have lost their terrors. We must become the equals of other nations in literature and science, as well as in trade and commerce. Can the American physician and surgeon afford to be behind his brother of the old world ? Never !

The time when the green country lad, however intelligent and ambitious, or the man advanced in years, can take up books at any time and begin to read law and medicine is past; the education of the professional man of the future must begin early in life. At the age of 10 years the boy intended for a professional career must be able to read and write correctly and he must know the rudiments of arithmetic (I am describing now the education of the student in Europe). He has by this time had a glimpse into history and geography. At the age of 10 he is removed from the common schools and enters into a higher grade. There the study of Latin and one modern language begins, together with higher mathematics, history, geography, botany (botanical gardens are attached to these schools in many places), zoology, etc. By the time this boy is 14 he is a pretty well educated fellow. Other studies then follow in still higher graded schools and other languages are added to his studies until at the age of 17 or 18, our European student, if he has any of the ambition of youth, is a highly educated person. Give us a young man brought up in this way. Give us one who has in addition to that, or in lieu of some of the unnecessary branches, pursued those taught in the manual training schools (called polytechnic schools in Europe), and you have the only student fit to take up a profession.

Our future American student of medicine or law will have to be brought up in just this way. Hundreds of them pursue this course now. One prepared in such a thorough way can accomplish more in two years of professional study than the one not so prepared in four or six, nay even in a lifetime. Give us the well-prepared student, and the bogus medical schools will die without legislation, for the want of students. I think, in fact I know, that many of our schools of medicine are good.

They exhibit an honesty of purpose which is commendable. Let the American Medical Association assist in furnishing them the proper students. Legislation is now pending in several States which will, when perfected, take the entrance examination to medical colleges out of the hands of the college faculties. This is a step in the right direction. In one of our States this move will be inaugurated in the near future. It must only be borne in mind that in this, as in all progressive measures, radicalism is to be avoided. The truth once conceived can force its way to a triumphant acknowledgment only by sensible measures. Step by step this must be accomplished. Step by step, just like the education itself. The wisdom of those who are by law empowered to regulate such matters will have to be exercised to its highest degree, and justice and impartiality must form the basis of all their actions.

With chemistry and the microscope the study of the germs—histology, physiology, pathology, etc., have been revolutionized. How is it possible for the future physician to combat the problems of nature and disease; how can he expect to master the study of his profession with a few courses of lectures? It is an absurdity to suppose it. It requires a lifetime and a foundation well laid. Twenty-five years hence when we observe a physician's sign, we must expect to find a true physician.

The future doctor will have his private laboratory. He cannot even prescribe for a simple case of rheumatism without a preceding chemic analysis of the excretions of the body. The future doctor will not permit every ambitious manufacturing concern, as is customary at the present day, to do his thinking and lull him into the false habit of lazily prescribing their stuff. The future doctor will not prescribe before his diagnosis is complete. He will examine the sputum, ulcerated throat ; in short, everything else, to make sure what he is encountering ; chemistry, the microscope, electricity, and all the powers and resources of nature will be pressed into his service. What is done by only the few to-day will then be the universal practice.

Medicine will then, indeed, be a science, a profession. The man with an 'ism or 'pathy will also vanish. He is only the product of ignorance and perverted education. Science has no 'isms. Facts alone count in science. Truth has no barriers ; it penetrates everything, and the spirit of truth rules the universe. It may be hidden, it may be trampled upon, but it will come out victorious in our science as in everything else. The physician of the future must follow the truth. The laws of nature are his guide and they will never mislead him. Honest study, honest investigation will lead to his individual success and to the honor of his profession. The well educated and, I hope, the well bred physician will be an ornament to society. He will be the people's friend and adviser. When he enters the house of his patients, or when the inmates of the hospital hear his steps in the corridors there will be rejoicing. His very presence will inspire confidence and hope in them. They will willingly submit to his orders and instructions. They will read truth and consolation in his countenance. In return he will enjoy his vocation.

MODERN GREEK AS AN INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE.

In the volume of this Manual for 1894 may be found an article on "Modern Greek as an International Language." With a view of keeping the subject before those who favor the continuation of the International Congress, this resumé is prepared to show the progress attained since the publication of last year. There are some who hesitate to believe that any one tongue should be adopted, but would rather that each Congress should determine for itself what arrangement might be made that the representatives of the various nationalities could express their opinions at the general meetings or in the different sections. If adopted at all the adherents of Latin, Italian, French, German, English and Greek still stand by the language of their original choice. Of late the Spanish has been favored and the reason has been given that it has a strong hold on the people of the American continent, being spoken on this hemisphere by more than 25,000,000 of its inhabitants. An enthusiastic writer declares that the Spanish language is one of the most beautiful of European tongues. The course of Spanish conquest has established the language in Mexico, Central America, Cuba, Porto Rico and the greater part of South America. Nevertheless Spanish Medicine has little influence compared with French or German or English. The Spaniard himself to understand his own language must have a knowledge of the Greek. The latest suggestions in regard to the choice seem to be in favor of the English. Russia has made the teaching of English obligatory in her schools. It is said that the Japanese have almost adopted it as their national tongue. English is even gaining ground in diplomatic circles. Its strongest advocates claim that even now it is more than all others an international tongue. It may seem ungracious for one whose mother tongue is English and who knows of its value as the language of Shakespeare and Chaucer, of Addison and Irving, to speak of another as being more worthy of adoption. And, yet, until still more light is obtained and for the reasons already given, let Greek remain as the most appropriate language of Medical men and scholars, and thus for international use.

It will be found that there are many more men in the daily walks of life who can read and otherwise use the Greek than we would at first suppose. Many of our youths, taught in classical schools, have only to revive their knowledge of the classics and make a practical application thereof. There are said to be 2,000 natives of Greece in the city of New York, all of whom, of course, speak in their vernacular. Latin and Greek in our schools have always been associated together, but Latin is truly a dead language while the Modern Greek is a living language and may often be made the means of explaining the meaning of terms in the ancient form which otherwise would not be understood. In this respect the Greek exceeds in practical utility the Latin, otherwise valuable as it is.

However the subject of an international language has been proposed at several of the Congresses and will, in all probability, be again urg'd upon the attention of its members at the next meeting in Moscow in 1896. There it will receive the impartial consideration it deserves, because as it were being considered on neutral ground. The Russian tongue not being brought into competition on account of its comparatively little use among the nations.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH A RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE
APRIL 16TH, 1894.

A committee was appointed on the Constitutional Convention. This committee, by the death of one of its members and the resignation of another, has been changed so that it is constituted as follows : Drs. Frank Ferguson, E. G. Janeway, E. J. Donlin, Albert T. Weston and W. M. Kemp. Several meetings were held to consider such changes as were of interest to the Medical Profession. It was Resolved that the chairman be empowered to communicate with other Medical Societies throughout the State in order to reach some common basis of action. The chairman was also requested to correspond with the leading Life Insurance Companies doing business in this State for the purpose of eliciting an opinion from their medical officers and actuaries as to the probable increase of the average term of human life, and what would result from the adequate supervision and compulsory regulation by a competent State health officer of the sources of the water supply of the people, and from the removal by a like agency of all other means of transmitting disease from one district to another.

The existence of municipal and State Boards of Health in each of the several States without any general plan of co-operation rendered it the more necessary that a national system should be adopted by the Government. The American Public Health Association, a voluntary organization, having been the only means of united action. Other questions of public sanitation and the prevention of the spread of contagious diseases were considered. These and the abolition of the Coroner as a constitutional officer, the better regulation of the commitment and care of the Insane and of the guarding of the public health by the more thorough disposal of garbage in large cities seem to be the principal items for public consideration affecting the work of the Medical Profession. To these might be added, the more scientific or physiological treatment of prisoners. By the new Constitution the office of Coroner formally designated in the old was eliminated and now remains subject to statutory provision only. The other matters, while not as yet being defined by law, are in various stages of adjudication. The Committee have at present no further report to make and ask either for additional instructions or to be finally discharged. It is suggested that inasmuch as the Constitutional Convention is now a thing of the past, the matters considered by this committee might be more profitably divided between the Committees on Legislation and Public Health.

F. FERGUSON.

At a meeting of the New York County Medical Association, held October 12, 1893, the following communication was received, viz. :

*To the President and Members of the New York County Medical Association:—*At the session of the New York State Medical Association, held October 10, 11 and 12, 1893, the Constitution and By-Laws were amended so as to allow the sending of delegates from local organizations in affiliation with the State Association. Your organization fulfils the requirement for affiliation, and becomes entitled to send delegates from the city and County of New York to the State and National Associations.

(Signed)

E. D. FERGUSON,

Sec'y N. Y. State Medical Association.

Following is the By-Law amended with additional amendment adopted Oct. 15th, 1895 to which reference is made: Art. II, Section 6 of the Constitution. "In addition to the foregoing Fellows of the Association, Delegates not being Fellows of the New York State Medical Association may be sent from medical organizations throughout the State in affiliation with this Association, in the proportion of one delegate for each ten members of said subordinate organization. Such delegates shall serve for the annual meeting next succeeding their appointment; they shall not be chargeable with any fee or due, though they may secure a copy of the transactions of the meeting at which they serve, at the cost of extra copies to regular Fellows.

“No medical organization can be entitled to send delegates unless its Constitution and By-Laws are in harmony with those of the State Association, the same having been approved by the Council of this Association; nor shall it be subordinate to any other State Medical organization.”

BRIEF SUMMARY OF MEDICAL LAWS.

PREVIOUS LAWS RELATING TO THE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE WERE REPEALED MAY 9, 1893.

I.

FOR STUDENTS ENTERING MEDICAL COLLEGES.

“MEDICAL STUDENT EXAMINATIONS

“ From Laws of 1893, ch. 661, and Amendments from Laws of 1895, ch. 636

“ To provide for the preliminary education of Medical students.

“ § 145. The degree of bachelor or doctor of medicine shall not be conferred in this State before the candidate has filed with the institution conferring it the certificate of the regents that three years before the date of the degree, he has either graduated from a registered college, or satisfactorily completed a full course in a registered academy or high school; or had a preliminary education considered and accepted by the regents as fully equivalent; or had passed regents' examinations representing for degrees conferred in 1898 one year of academic work, for degrees conferred in 1899 two years of academic work, and for degrees conferred in 1900 a full high school course. Students who had matriculated in a New York medical school before June 5, 1890, shall be exempt from this preliminary education requirement, provided the degree be conferred before August 1, 1895.

II.

FOR REGENTS' EXAMINATION AFTER GRADUATION AND BEFORE ENTERING ON PRACTICE.

§ 148. Licenses.—On receiving from a State Board an official report that an applicant has successfully passed the examinations and is recommended for license, the regents shall issue to him, if in their judgment he is duly qualified therefor, a license to practice medicine. Every license shall be issued by the University under seal, and shall be signed by each acting medical examiner of the Board selected, and by the officer of the University who approved the credential which admitted the candidate to examination, and shall state that the licensee has given satisfactory evidence of fitness as to age, character, preliminary and medical education, and all other matters required by law, and that after full examination he has been found properly qualified to practice. * * * “The regents may in their discretion accept as the equivalent for any part of * * * acquirements evidence of five or more years' reputable practice, provided that such substitution be specified in the license.

III.

FOR REGISTERING IN COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

WHERE SUCH PRACTICE IS TO BE CARRIED ON.

§ 149. Registry.—Every license to practice medicine shall, before the licensee begins practice thereunder, be registered in a book kept in the clerk's office of the county where such practice is to be carried on, with name, residence, place and date of birth, and source, number, and date of his license to practice. Before registering, each licensee shall file, to be kept in a bound volume in the county clerk's office, an affidavit of the above facts, and also that he is the person named in such license, and had, before receiving the same, complied with all requisites as to attendance, terms, and amount of study and examinations required by law, and the rules of the University as preliminary to the conferment thereof; that no money was paid for such license except the regular fees paid by all applicants therefor; that no fraud, misrepresentations, or mistake in any material regard was employed by anyone, or occurred in order that such license should be conferred. Every license, or if lost, a copy thereof legally certified so as to be admissible as evidence, or a duly attested transcript of the record of its conferment shall, before registering, be exhibited to the county clerk, who, only in case it was issued or indorsed as a license under seal by the regents, shall indorse or stamp on it the date and his name preceded by the words: "Registered as authority to practice medicine in the clerk's office of . . . County." The clerk shall thereupon give to every physician so registered a transcript of the entries in the register with a certificate under seal, that he has filed the prescribed affidavit. The licensee shall pay to the county clerk a total fee of one dollar for registration, affidavit and certificate.

IV.

FOR PRACTITIONERS—GRADUATES OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES COMING INTO STATE OF NEW YORK.

§ The regents shall admit to examination any candidate who pays a fee of $25 and submits satisfactory evidence, verified by oath if required that, he * * * received the degree of bachelor or doctor of medicine from some registered medical school, or a diploma or license conferring full right to practice medicine in some foreign country. * * * They may, without further examination on payment of $10 to the regents, and on submitting such evidence as they may require, receive from them an endorsement of their licenses or diplomas, conferring all rights and privileges of a regent's license, issued after examination.

V.

FOR PRACTITIONERS REMOVING FROM OTHER STATES TO NEW YORK.

§ 148. * * * Applicants examined and licensed by other State Examining Boards registered by the regents as maintaining standards not lower than those provided by this article, and applicants who matriculated in a New York State medical school before June 5, 1890, and who receive the degree M. D. from a registered medical school before August 1, 1895, may, without further examination, on payment of $10 to the regents and on submitting such evidence as they may require, receive from them an indorsement of their licenses or diplomas conferring all rights and privileges of a regent's license issued after examination.

VI.

FOR PRACTITIONERS REMOVING FROM NEW YORK TO OTHER STATES.

The applicant is hereby referred to the Journal of the American Medical Association of March 10th, 1894, page 354, where will be found a complete list of States and Territories with the legal requirements for the practice of medicine in each. Since that date changes have been made in the laws of several of the States, notably Massachusetts and Georgia. In doubtful cases application may be made to the secretaries of the different State Societies or Associations for the information desired.

NOTES ON THE LAWS.

There are many details connected with the explanation or application of these, which it would not comport with the size of this volume to record. § 151 and § 152 of the laws refer to penalties for violations, and to the regulation of consultations, and practicing within the lines of adjoining States, or changing residence from one county to another. By Chapter 398 of the Laws of 1895 an important amendment has been made to § 153 on Penalties and Their Collection. Students and any others interested are advised to communicate with the Regents of the University, Albany, N. Y., from whose office further information may be obtained and blank forms received. Complete copies of the amended law can be obtained by addressing the Regents' Office, Albany, N. Y., or an application to the Secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners, 78 West 82d Street, New York City.

NOTES.

DOCTOR MEDICINÆ CIVITATIS.

The time seems to be at hand when State medicine will be recognized as a special department, and when, after receiving the usual degree of M. D., a special course will be prescribed, and after due examination the title above written will be conferred as a post-graduate degree.

It will not be given as an empty honor, but as the award of merit, after a course of study and examination in such subjects as are included in State Medicine, viz. Chemistry, Meteorology, Engineering, Morbid Anatomy and Vital Statistics. The first steps in this matter have been taken by Rush Medical College, Chicago, and expectations are cherished other colleges will soon follow.

RECIPROCITY IN REGISTRATION.

A reference to the medical laws of the various States indicate much diversity in the requirements for practice within their several bounds. Considering the many reasons for change of residence and the actual practice of continual alteration of locality, it becomes a hardship to be obliged, on crossing State lines, to comply with new regulations. These difficulties have been to some extent mitigated by amendments to the laws adopted in May, 1895. By these more liberal terms have been made for consultations and for occasional visits beyond State lines. Nevertheless, many practitioners for various reasons have gone to the capitals of adjoining or even distant States and passed the prescribed medical examinations, in order that without molestation they might prescribe wherever they might be, as travellers or on occasional visits of friendship or business. A well-prepared physician loses none of his accomplishments by being in another State, and would be a trustworthy medical adviser wherever found. Citizens travelling are often desirous of being accompanied by their family physicians. The mutual interests of physicians and patients would be enhanced by a general registration far more than the welfare of a few in the various States would be protected by the exclusion of any but their own local practitioners. Nothing is likely to be accomplished until the medical profession will act as a unit. Then, and perhaps not till then, will it be proper to appeal to our legislatures in behalf of some law which would give authority to the State examining boards permitting them to issue certificates of registration to any person who has been previously registered in another State; subject, of course, to such terms and restrictions as may be prescribed. Thus the convenience resulting would soon be recognized, and would be established where confusion now reigns.

IRREGULARS AND QUACKERY.

In the volume of this series for 1894 there is an article with this title which attempts to set forth the importance of giving special attention to irregulars and quackery in order that rational medicine may be the more thoroughly maintained. Several methods for so doing are there enumerated and suggestions for continuing these advanced. In the present volume, in a long extract under the title Notes, will be found an address in which reference is made to the continuance of and present status of quackery—which is described as being always with us. It is a subject so extensive that it would require more time and space in this book than can be spared. We only add a resolution adopted by the New York County Medical Association which reads as follows, viz.:

Resolved, That the appointment of medical officers from any except members of the regular medical profession by our public officials is in the judgment of this Association much to be deprecated. Especially is this true when such appointees are in position to give direction and exercise authority over those who, after a medical education which takes in all departments of medicine, must subject their judgments to the followers of exclusive and sectarian systems, which reject the combined knowledge and wisdom of the great majority of that profession throughout the world.

[Exception being made to such hospitals or institutions as specially provide therefor or by their inmates or managers specially so requesting.]

The Code of Ethics and the Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws are published in separate pamphlets, and can be obtained on application to the Secretary.

The Journal of the American Medical Association is published weekly at 86 Fifth Ave., Chicago, and is said to have a circulation of 8,000. Annual subscription, $5.00.

For names of physicians resident in the various towns and counties of New York State and of adjoining counties in Connecticut and New Jersey; for street directory, hospital directory and much valuable information not within the scope of this book, members are referred to the Medical Register, published under the auspices of the Medico-Historical Society, Dr. John Shrady, formerly President of this Association, Editor.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

It will be seen in referring to our list of members on page 23 to 87 that in many cases and as an additional item of information the Telephone No. is introduced. It has only been done for those who have so requested, or for some special reason have been asked so to do.

The use of the Telephone is becoming more and more general, and many physicians declare it to be an essential part of their office armamentarium. Inquiry in person or by letter to the General Office of the Metropolitan Telephone and Telegraph Company will secure a prompt answer and a description of the various plans proposed for its introduction with terms, &c., &c. It is recommended however that those who have no knowledge either of its value or inconveniences would first consult some other members who have it in use before making final arrangement for its introduction.

The use of the pay station often found at the store of a neighboring apothecary may in most cases answer the purpose very well, especially when an arrangement is made with the druggist to send to the residence any incoming messages. But the introduction of the instrument complete will render a far more satisfactory service, though more expensive.
